

To: the RUSD Board of Trustees and Superintendent:

Your "transgender policy" needs to go.

Sandy Roy made that point at a recent school board meeting when her presence in the "men's" bathroom was so disturbing (to at least one of the adult men in that bathroom) that she was sent an attorney letter, ostensibly from the RUSD Board of Directors, telling her that it was not okay for her to enter the adult men's bathroom in the future.

That happened at the Board meeting at which there was a huge crowd, of both parents and police, in response to the consequences (physical fights and attacks on students and staff) of the school Board's adoption of a "transgender" policy that permits any student -- who merely SAYS that he or she identifies as the opposite sex of what God and Nature assigned to him or her at birth -- to enter the normally private areas reserved for either males or females, i.e., bathrooms and locker rooms.

Why would a school board think it is acceptable to violate minors', i.e., public school students', normal senses of privacy and modesty if it is not equally acceptable to do the same thing to adults?

Apparently this must be because the Board and Superintendent have not only stopped thinking for themselves, but that they also do not care what the people whose children and property taxes provide them with their jobs and salaries. Instead, it seems that they'd rather follow the dictates coming down from "the New World Order," as such agenda is being pushed by the "progressive" (aka Luciferian, Marxist) Democrats. (And probably the Luciferian, Marxist RINOS as well.) But read the Constitution, and you will see that neither the states nor the federal government were given the right to make health or medical decisions for individuals, nor to dictate that students have no rights to privacy and modesty, especially when that is what their tax-paying parents want.

Mrs. Roy's demonstration of the hypocrisy at work in the RUSD control center ties in very well with the following video of a student addressing a similar disconnect between what school boards say, and how they act. Little Girl BASHES School Board Over BLM Poster At Her Elementary School | By Garrett for Michigan | Facebook So, if the School Board wants to keep privacy and modesty for its adult officers and employees, it needs to do the same for all of its students, and get rid of its "transgender" policy.

There is no such thing, by the way, as someone who is "transgender." Humans, like all mammals, are male or female. Period. Certain rare biological conditions may cause some confusion about what sex a human baby is ("Middlesex," a novel by Jeffrey Eugenides was based on one such real condition), exposure to the soup of hormones now circulating in our water supply thanks to Big Pharma and Big Medicine may create biological problems, sexual orientations have always varied since times immemorable, people may undergo surgery to fake being a member of the opposite sex, mental beliefs may contradict biology, and people can ie.

But there are only two biologically-based genders: male and female. Even the very rare, natural hermaphrodite is still both male and female, but not "transgender." (I say "natural" for a reason, for some Luciferians are intentionally creating human "baphomets," just like they've intentionally created structured multiple personalities.)

So, for whom is each of your school board trustees working: the parents of RUSD students (who showed up in droves to complain about this policy), or the would-be-New World Order? Thank you for your attention to this matter, and I look forward to your individual responses.

Letitia E. Pepper
